

WANTED.
Twenty-five non-union printers.
Composition at night, 50 cents; in day, 25 cents; payment every Monday. Permanent work guaranteed.

IN BRIEF.
The wicked stand in slippery places.
The GAZETTE regrets to learn of the illness of Miss Artie Reed.

The grand jury, after some trouble was gotten together yesterday and will probably begin the inquisitorial work to-day.

The GAZETTE fore-don't mind being called "shabby genteel vagabonds," even by as discriminating a paper as the Evening Democrat.

A lady walking along Main Street in front of Howard & Co's fell on the slippery pavement but fortunately was not hurt. Walking was not good yesterday.

Quite a number of prominent citizens called at the GAZETTE office yesterday and proffered their assistance, but not being experienced printers their services could not be accepted.

One family ordered four copies of the GAZETTE yesterday. Not that they had any particular use for so many but they wanted to show their appreciation of its pluck.

The GAZETTE is doing its level best to give the people of Fort Worth the news under some very adverse circumstances. Working day and night does not enable us to do this as we should like to do.

Six wagons laden with fair and long haired Arkansians passed through the city yesterday on the way to Johnson or Hill county. These immigrants were of the better class and had enough money to carry them through several years of hard times, should they come.

The expressions of endorsement and sympathy from the substantial people of Fort Worth are very grateful to the "shabby genteel vagabonds" who are striving to keep up the GAZETTE, and it is a consolation to know that the business men of the city who have thus expressed themselves cannot be called vagabonds even by imported genius and antiquated gentility.

The Fay Templeton Troupe had a very good house last night and everyone present was delighted with the charming play of Olivette which was rendered in the most charming manner. Fay, the charming bewitching Fay was the recipient of unbounded applause. It is to be regretted that the weather was not more propitious, as very many of the theatre-goers were debarred from attending by the inclement weather.

MARRIED.
Recently, at Quincy, Florida, Judge J. H. Glasgow, of Graham to Mrs.
Mattie Rhodes. The Judge sends hearty congratulations to the bride and groom. Judge Glasgow has been twice elected Judge of our county court by large majorities. Before his second term expired the law firm of Arnold & Arnold seemed him as partner, he is also a partner in the drug store of Glasgow & Martin. Prosperous as has been his business here, he has met with still more prosperity in capturing one of Florida's fairest flowers. Mrs. Rhodes formerly lived at this place, and was very highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She is a sister of Mrs. Wilder of this place. Her residence here will be an acquisition to our social circle. (Graham Leader.)

Judge Glasgow and his charming wife passed through our city Monday, on their way home to Young county.
The GAZETTE wishes the couple unbounded joy in their wedded life.

The Cashier's "String."

In its need of compositors, the Ga-ZETTE called in the cashier of the company. Judging from the effort below he is more of a composer than compositor:

City Council.

Appreciating the fact that an extended notice of the proceedings of the council could not be published in the GAZETTE this morning, but little business was transacted.

A quorum was not present, but as several bills had to be allowed, the aldermen who were on hand passed on them, when the batch was taken to Mr. Brooks for his approval, also, this being necessary to make the transaction legal.

Ships and Ship-Building.

The New York Sun says that last year was the most prosperous and active which was ever experienced in the history of English ship-building. The yards upon the Clyde turned out 297 vessels, with a gross tonnage of 335, 149 tons. There are over forty shipbuilding firms on that river. The Material employed in these vessels was almost entirely iron and steel. In 1879 the tonnage of steel vessels built upon the Clyde was only 69,000 tons; in 1882 it was 108,254 tons. During last year the demand for sailing ships has largely increased, contrary to the general impression. The production of the yards upon the Tyne, Wear, Tees, and Humber aggregated 331 ships, with a tonnage of 553,985 tons. On the other hand, the year 1882 was [unusually unfortunate for sailors and ships. During the year there were 1,890 shipwrecks reported throughout the world, and more than half the vessels lost were owned by the English. Of these 226 were steamers, nearly as many as the total of the craft launched upon the Clyde. This formidable array of disaster has naturally led to urgent inquiry for improved means of safety. Mr. G.
H. Perry, in the Engineering Times, closes a long and careful consideration of the problems involved with the suggestive remark that "it may be doubted whether a ship that has to earn a dividend can ever be made secure against all disasters, but the experience of several large companies that insure their own ships shows that wrecks arise in the main from preventable causes."

Mr. Claus Spreckles, "the sugar king" of the Pacific slope and the Sandwich Islands is heavily built, has thin white hair, a steel-gray mustach, a heavy jaw, a florid complexion and blue eyes, and he is about fifty-five years old.

A Warning Lamp.

A lamp to warn the watchman on duty that a house has been forcibly entered has been invented by Mr. Diggin.
It can be placed outside the door, within view of the policeman on his beat, and when the house is safe it shows a white bullseye; but when a door or window has been opened by night a red shade falls in front of the flame and shows a red bullseye. The lamp is very simple in construction. An electro-magnet, by the attraction of its armature when the current passes, releases a de-tent, allowing a screen of red glass to fall down in front of the flame, thereby producing the red light. The current can be sent by the opening of a door, window, safe or show-case, or by treading on a stair, and in other ways, if necessary. This is done by an electric contact, which is arranged to close under any of these operations, and thus complete the circuit of a voltaic battery through the electro-magnet in the lamp.
The lamp can also be used within a house to warn the inmates, and an electric bell can be rung by the current.
Moreover, in case of fire, the red light and bell can be operated by the mercury column of a thermometer rising and closing the circuit.

The secret of the success of the An-gio-Saxon race is its unconquerable resolution. A New England mother severely whaled her six-year-old boy, then locked him up and fed him on bread and water for three days and nights; yet, after all this, on being released he still insisted that he didn't want to go to heaven without his hand-rod.

Boston Corbett, the man who killed the assassin Booth, is living in Kansas, engaged in the cattle business. He has become a religious enthusiast, and in a recent letter to a friend in Camden he says that he has been directed by God to inflict daily corporal punishment upon himself as a penance for having taken human life.
